Martial Arts is a fun way for both boys and girls to achieve fitness and focus. Some parents may think it also promotes violence, but according to experts that’s a myth. Martial arts actually helps teach self-discipline and socialization skills. A typical 1/2 hour class begins and ends with a bow to the teacher, or master. After a warm-up, students practice the particular skills of the art, which may include kicks, thrusts and blocks. Each skill requires concentration and strict attention.

A minimum of 6 children is necessary to open the class. (Max 12 children)

Les arts martiaux sont un moyen ludique pour les enfants de développer forme physique et concentration. Contrairement à l'idée reçue, ils ne favorisent pas la violence mais enseignent l'autodiscipline et la socialisation. Un cours typique de 30 minutes débute et finit par un salut au maître. Après l'échauffement, les élèves s'exercent sur des techniques spécifiques comme les coups de pied et les blocages, nécessitant concentration et attention.
